

BELUGA WEEKLY

VOLUME 2

A cartoon drawing of a chicken, likely a rooster, shown in profile facing right. The drawing is simple, with a yellow body and a red comb and wattle. It has a long neck, a pointed beak, and large, expressive eyes. The wings are tucked close to its body, and its tail feathers are visible. The chicken is standing on two feet. The drawing is set against a light blue background and is framed by a thick black border. Labels with lines pointing to specific parts of the chicken are as follows: 'comb' points to the red crest; 'wattle' points to the red skin hanging from the beak; 'beak' points to the pointed mouth; 'neck' points to the long neck; 'wing' points to the wing; 'body' points to the main body; 'tail' points to the tail feathers; and 'feet' points to the feet.

Year 2

Hi. Well, it happened again. Those pesky issues of Beluga Weekly have piled up to the point where I feel the need to stick them all together and make a book out of them. So, these are the issues that were published on my web site throughout 2010.

(That web site, by the way, is www.belugatoons.com please because I need the attention there's a reason for me to publish and having fans seems to be the You may notice a lot of changes to occurring as you read. A lot of this has to do with my indecisiveness. Eugene doesn't seem to care about this as long as he still gets to appear in the title banner.

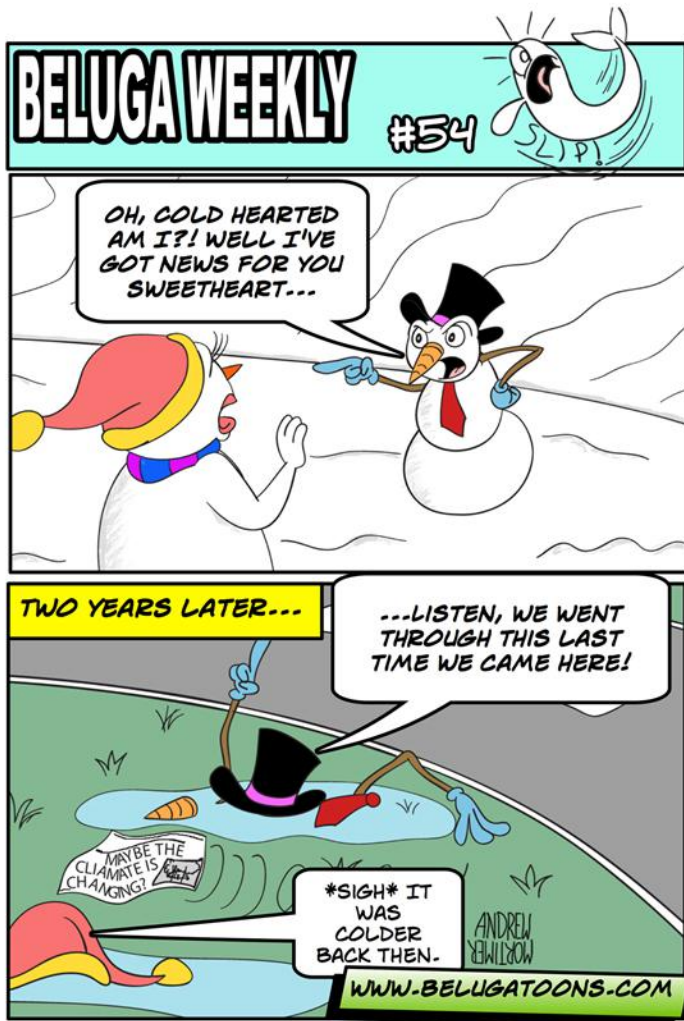

do check it out and I like to think cartoony stuff obvious route.) the layout
